Welcome to Dutch Passion

Dutch Passion was the second Cannabis Seed Company in the world, established in Amsterdam in 1987. It is our mission to supply the recreational and medical home grower with the highest quality cannabis products available in all countries where this is legally allowed.

After many years of dedication Dutch Passion remains a leading supplier of the world's best cannabis genetics. Our experienced team do their utmost to maintain the quality of our existing varieties and constantly search for new ones from an extensive network of worldwide sources. We supply thousands of retailers and seed distributors around the world.

Dutch Passion have never been afraid to upset conventional thinking; we invented feminised seeds in the 1990's and more recently have pioneered the introduction of 10-week Autoflower seeds which have helped make life even easier for the self-sufficient cannabis grower. CBD-rich medical cannabis genetics is a new area that we are proud to be leading.

The foundation of our success is the genetic control we have over our strains and the constant influx of new genetics that we obtain worldwide. The result is a seed collection based on stable classic varieties and exciting new ones. Our seed collection has never been better.

All Dutch Passion varieties have been developed with an ethical approach for nature and the environment.

Regular, Feminised and Autoflower

Regular seeds will give rise to male and female plants in roughly equal numbers. They are the preferred way of growing for old-school growers who like the traditional approach to cannabis seeds. Regular cannabis seeds are also important for cannabis breeders that like the freedom to select male and female plants for their own breeding projects.

Feminised seeds. Dutch Passion were the first company to discover the techniques for making feminised seeds in the 1990's. Today feminised seeds are very stable and account for over 97% of all the seeds bought by our customers. Feminised seeds give rise to nearly all female offspring. A percentage of 95% to 99% can be expected to grow into mature female plants in good conditions. Self sufficient cannabis growers prefer feminised seeds because they enable smaller grow rooms with less plants (less risk) and therefore less energy needed to power the grow room. Feminised seeds do carry the small risk of becoming hermaphrodite cannabis plants which show both male and female flowers, however this tends to affect small numbers of plants and is most likely if grow room conditions are poor.

Autoflower seeds are feminised and auto-flowering, which means that they automatically start flowering about 3 to 4 weeks after germination and typically finish around 10 - 11 weeks after germination regardless of the light cycle. Autoflower varieties are usually grown indoors under 20 hours of light and 4 hours of darkness each day from seed to harvest. They have earned a reputation as the easiest and most convenient way to grow your own cannabis, especially for new or less experienced cannabis growers.

Cannabinoids

A variety of compounds are found in Cannabis, known as cannabinoids. Dozens of Cannabinoids are produced in the plant, but only a few are fully researched so far. Both medical and pharmaceutical researchers are excited to find out which will be the most useful of the unexplored cannabinoids. This is an area of our core expertise. Our extensive research to produce new cannabis varieties rich in unusual cannabinoids is ongoing. Here's an overview of the most well known cannabinoids:

- THC - Known for getting consumers high or stoned.
- CBD - CBD-rich cannabis is less psychoactive and more physical than traditional cannabis. It is claimed to alleviate symptoms of a variety of medical conditions.
- THCV - We were first to recently introduce a very promising THCV rich cannabis strain. Further research should determine medicinal benefits, such as claimed effects in appetite suppression etc.
- CBG - Cannabigerol (CBG) is a new cannabinoid, thought to be non-psychoactive and used in the synthesis of many other cannabinoids. CBG is currently the subject of a great dealing of research from cannabis breeders.

Just as THC and CBD have proved incredibly useful and versatile cannabinoids with a range of uses, it is hoped there will be many other cannabinoids being put to good medical use in the future. We hope to be the first to bring you the seeds!

Nutrients

When cannabis is grown naturally in a large amount of soil it is not necessary to feed the plant with extra nutrients. However, if you grow in small containers of soil then eventually you will need to add nutrients to replace those taken from the soil. And if you grow hydroponically, or grow in a material such as coco fibre then you will also need to add nutrients to the water to allow healthy plant growth. The 3 main components plant nutrients are Nitrogen, Phosphorus and Potassium (usually these 3 compounds are referred to as N, P, and K). There are many good quality suppliers of nutrients on the market.

- Organic/bio. Some growers prefer organic nutrients for their cannabis. These nutrients are often derived from materials including molasses and other natural sources and are often used by soil growers. Hydroponic growers can't use traditional organic nutrients because they can cause blockages in pipework and valves.
- Synthetic nutrients. These account for the majority of nutrients from the major suppliers. The essential minerals (NPK) are dissolved in water and supplied as a concentrate which is diluted by the grower before use. The diluted feed solution is often measured for PH (acidity or alkalinity) and EC (electrical conductivity or mineral concentration) before being given to the plants.
- Overfeeding and overwatering. Probably the two most common mistakes by cannabis growers is the tendency to over-water plants grown in soil and to over-feed cannabis plants grown in any medium. Healthy roots are essential to the overall health and growth of a cannabis plant. By over watering a soil-grown plant the roots do not get sufficient aeration which slows plant growth. And over-feeding any cannabis plant (in soil, coco or hydro) will cause 'nutrient burn' which shows up as scorched brown tips to the leaves. This also slows down plant development and limits the final plant size.
- Feeding schedules & advice. Stick to the nutrient manufacturers feeding schedule. If anything remember that it is better to temporarily under-feed a plant than to over-feed it and cause nutrient-burn. Try to use minimum nutrient levels and increase them slowly, backing off when necessary. It is also recommended to use a good quality pH meter and EC meter, and to check their readout accuracy on a regular basis.

Growing Indoors, Outdoors and in Greenhouses

Cannabis has evolved naturally to grow outdoors but it can easily be grown indoors and in greenhouses.

Indoor:

Indoor growers usually have a room, closet or tent which contains a light, carbon filter and an air extraction pump. Temperature can be kept at the desired level (around 20°C-27°C) and the plants can grow without pests in optimum conditions to produce superb quality cannabis.

Outdoor:

Outdoor growers don't need any specialist equipment, just a sunny growing spot with good quality soil and proven outdoor cannabis seeds. In good conditions a proven outdoor variety can easily reach 3 metres tall and produce over a Kilogram of buds. Outdoor growers often say that cannabis grown naturally under the sun has the best taste and effects.

Greenhouse / polytunnel:

If the climate isn't quite warm enough to grow outdoors then a greenhouse or polytunnel will extend the growing season by protecting your plants from the worst of the weather.

Non GMO Statement.

All Cannabis varieties in the Dutch Passion catalogue have been obtained through classic crossing, selective breeding and inbreeding techniques. Dutch Passion does not work with Genetically Modified Organisms (GMO) or GMO techniques and has no plans to change that in future.

Geographic Location

Cannabis grows well all over the world. The Dutch Passion cannabis genebank contains varieties from all corners of the planet. In the northern hemisphere outdoor and greenhouse growers have a growing season that lasts from around April to October. In the Southern hemisphere e.g. South America the growing season is generally from September to April. Outdoor growers often germinate their cannabis seeds indoors to protect the delicate seedlings for the first week or two. Once the plants are strong enough to put outside they will often need some slug/snail pellets to keep pests off them and perhaps a protective perimeter of chicken wire to prevent grazing animals eating them.

Temperatures. Cannabis plants will tolerate high/low temperatures but deliver best results when they do not experience climatic extremes of very cold/very hot weather - which explains why so many indoor growers get consistently good results.

Special Cannabinoids

Innovation from the Dutch Passion Research Labs

THC and CBD are the most well known cannabinoids and are widely available. Over recent years dozens of other naturally occurring cannabinoids have been identified such as CBC, THCV, CBDV, CBG and many others. Science has already discovered beneficial properties for some of these. But for most cannabinoids many of the properties are still unknown. Dutch Passion are creating new cultivars with high levels of these new cannabinoids. Once these are available in stable seed form, science can research their full medical and recreational potential. Over the next decade Dutch Passion expect to launch several stable and productive 'Special Cannabinoid' varieties. Each one will be rich in one (or several) of these new cannabinoids.

With the introduction of our special cannabinoid variety Auto CBD-Victory, we celebrate another victory in the field of new cannabinoids. This is the first commercially available CBDV seed variety with a 1:1 ratio of CBD:CBDV.

Auto CBD-Victory is 75% Sativa/25% Indica. She takes around 10 weeks from seed to harvest indoors under 20 hours of daily light with good yields of corn-shaped flowers. We used our "Research Genetics" gene pool as base material. After four years of development we are now ready to release these new CBD/CBDV autoflower seeds to the market.

Auto CBD-Victory has a vigorous growth pattern and will form big, dense buds of top-quality cannabis. There is around 4-6% of CBD and 4-6% of CBDV in the dry buds. THC levels are guaranteed to stay below 0.3%. The effect is 'bright', but not psychoactive. With hints of wood, pine and a slight sweet vinegar taste, this lady has quite an enjoyable terpene profile.

Dutch Passion stands for innovation. Our past accomplishments, including inventing feminised seeds, made us the pioneers we are today. Now we proudly present the next successful project! After several attempts Dutch Passion have a stabilised THCV rich variety, the first one on the market. THC-Victory is a unique plant with a 1:1 ratio of THC and THCV, the long sought-after, new cannabinoid. THCV short for tetrahydrocannabivarin is of great medical interest in several fields. Usually THCV is an antagonist for THC, slightly suppressing the effects. THCV is usually a very minor component in most cannabis varieties. More medical research is required to discover the full potential of THCV.

Yield is average, terpenes lean towards the citrus side of the spectrum. The trichomes contain a roughly even amount of THC and THCV, around 6-8% of each.

Dutch Passion are proud to announce the first CBG rich feminised cannabis seed variety, CBG-Force. CBG (Cannabigerol) is thought to have great medical potential. THC levels are below 0.15%. CBG-Force follows in the footsteps of THC-Victory (THCV rich) and our pioneering work in 2011 introducing CBD rich seeds.

CBG-Force, our first generation CBG rich strain, grows into a medium sized plant with large harvest potential (indoors 400 grams/m2, outdoors 500 grams per plant). The plant grows vigorously (with great Force) needing only around 7 weeks of flowering to finish her solid buds of CBG rich cannabis. With a THC percentage of below 0.15%, this is the first strain in our collection that could be considered legal globally in the same way as legal hemp. The flowers look just like normal cannabis with the same structure and appearance. It's a great smoke, especially for those looking for a connoisseur cannabis-light experience.

In our CBG breeding program we focused on both a feminised and an autoflowering variety that would be rich in CBG and would have very little to no THC. After introducing the photoperiod feminised cannabis seed version of CBG-Force, we are now doing the same with autoflowering CBG seeds, Auto CBG-Force.

After several tests we concluded that Auto CBG-Force had consistently lower THC levels than photoperiod CBG-Force. Auto CBG-Force averaged 0.04% THC, whilst the photoperiod CBG-Force was closer to 0.14%. This is still well under the European legal limit of 0.2%. This may not seem like a significant difference, but for some growers in the legal system these ultra low THC levels are very reassuring. We think the higher THC levels in the photoperiod version may be due to the longer vegetative time available.

Dutch Outdoor

Top quality outdoor cannabis genetics.

The quality and toughness of our outdoor cannabis varieties is the result of decades of experience. All our outdoor varieties are carefully selected, developed and bred in Holland. Dutch Passion outdoor varieties are strong, very productive, mold and disease resistant and will perform well in cold Northern European climates. The varieties will grow well in greenhouses but not indoors unless specifically stated. Yields depend on climate, the amount of sunlight, environmental factors, the date of sowing and nutrition. Harvest times quoted are for the Dutch climate and latitude. Greenhouses fitted with "darkening" blinds can accelerate finishing times. Multiple harvests per year are possible and easy with Autoflower varieties.

Dutch Passion original Durban Poison® is a classic outdoor and indoor variety, tough enough for outdoor growing in extreme Northern/Southern latitudes. She was brought to Holland from South Africa and was inbred over many years during the 70's. With each generation Durban Poison® became increasingly adapted to the windy and rainy conditions of Northern Europe. During the breeding process some unknown indica genetics have been crossed with Durban. Durban may initially show wide indica style leaves but the growth pattern allows the sativa dominance to show by the end with long blooms pierced by slim sativa-style leaves.

Frisian Dew® is the most beautiful outdoor variety we have ever encountered. It is a cross between Super Skunk female x Purple Star male that took three years of selection from clones. We produced many Skunk/Purple hybrids in the past 20 years, but we have never seen anything as good as this hybrid. Light purple colour (50% Indica, 50% Sativa) – very high yielder, very good stem to leave ratio (only little leaves). Not susceptible to mold. Absolute premium quality outdoor strain. A must for the outdoor grower, especially in the Northern Climates. Soft aroma and taste, above medium high. Very commercial.

Passion #1® is one of the best green outdoor varieties available and has been ever since the 1970's when it first appeared as a legendary Californian Indica. Yields can range from 250 grams for typical 2.5 m tall plants to as much as 750g from large plants that can reach staggering proportions (up to 3.5m) when started early in optimum conditions. Passion #1® grows long and compact buds that are heavy with resin, this is a variety developed only for outdoor/greenhouse and is famously easy to grow. Initially, the smoke is soft with a fresh citrus aroma, then Passion #1 hits you fast with a strong exhilarating 'up' high. ## High Altitude

Mountain cannabis, developed in the Swiss Alps.

Most modern cannabis seed varieties are selectively bred at low altitude and grown at low altitude. When we looked at the offerings from other seed companies we couldn't find any good quality high-altitude varieties. To fill the demand Dutch Passion developed two high-altitude varieties, Pamir Gold® and Snow Bud®. These were created in the Swiss Alps over many generations of selectively breeding during the 1990's. Today Pamir Gold® and SnowBud® are recognised as two of the best varieties for high altitude growing in any mountainous region such as the Alps, Pyrenees, Sierra Nevada and Caucasus.

One of the strongest THC-rich auto's we have yet seen. Auto Cinderella Jack® is a feminised auto variety created together with Buddha Seeds, innovative auto breeders from Spain. The parent genetics were selected exclusively on THC levels and nothing else. Professional lab analysis was used at each stage of breeding to confirm high-THC foundation genetics over several generations and all individuals. Originally this project began with selected crossing of Cinderella 99 and Jack Herer. The auto genetics came from the Magnum genetic line which ensures harvest quantities are well above average. With THC levels of 20%++ this is one of the most potent auto varieties currently available.

Think Different is the real surprise package in the Dutch Passion autoflower collection. She has quickly established a great reputation for stunning yields and very strong weed. Even first time growers have achieved over 100g/plant and experienced growers can achieve 200g-300g+. She can grow over 1m tall in experienced hands and is a good alternative to traditional varieties, offering bumper harvests of strong cannabis just 10-11 weeks after seed germination. The genetics come from a special AK47 hybrid known as AK420.

Indoors she has the potential to yield up to 500g/m<sup>2</sup> especially in 'scrog' systems with powerful lights.

Careful breeding has created one of our most important strains, we call it "The Ultimate" as it combines some of the heaviest yields we have ever seen with genuine connoisseur quality. She grows to a height of around 1m, ideal for the indoor grow room. Flowering time is 8-11 weeks, with explosive bud growth in the last 2 weeks. The Ultimate is Sativa dominant and will take plenty of nutrients during the growth cycle, she is resistant to mold and bud-rot making it a good greenhouse choice too. The Ultimate is very suited for taking cuttings.

Our growers have never seen a plant yield as heavily with this level of quality. This variety is already setting new standards for commercial growers and will transform your grow room.

Released in 1997, Power Plant became an instant success. A heavy yielding and highly stable classic. Power Plant is a mostly sativa variety from South Africa, the original version is only available from Dutch Passion. It is a heavy yielder for indoor, greenhouse and outdoor gardens (does well in Mediterranean climates) with bumper yields of 500-600 grams/m2. She is popular with recreational and medical users and remains a pure and stable strain with a well deserved reputation.

Power Plant is rich in THC and delivers a formidable strong "up" high with a fresh flavour, smooth smoke and sweet aftertaste. Indoor bloom takes 8-10 weeks. The plants reach 1-1.5m tall and the buds are often 30+cm long, with small leaves in them.

Dutch Passion are proud to present the non-autoflowering version of the legendary Think Different. Think Fast® was created by crossing Think Different Autoflower with a specially selected cutting of the Dutch Passion classic Power Plant® in the search of new Autoflower genetics. The first generation offspring, which is normally used for further breeding, was let flowering and gave surprisingly good results. When crossing an autoflowering variety with a traditional photoperiod variety, none of this offspring will be autoflowering. The Dutch Passion geneticists discovered that these non autoflowering plants, which carry the recessive autoflowering gene are significantly faster than their photoperiod parents.

Breeding took place through 6 generations to ensure a stable and strong Orange Skunk with lots of orange hairs at harvest, generous yields and a citrus flavour. This is 50% indica/50% sativa with a 21% THC level which produces a great high with a solid and pleasurably relaxing body stone.

Plants typically stay short, around 1 metre, with lots of sticky buds on the side branches. This is the bushiest and best yielding member of our Orange family.

Blue Family

Connoisseur quality at its best.

The Blue Family of cannabis genetics were successfully introduced by Dutch Passion in the 1990's. The long lasting, smooth and powerful high, great taste and blue hues on the buds are qualities which are universally appreciated in the cannabis industry. The genetics of "The Blue Family" come from an Oaxacan (legendary Mexican Sativa), a Thai and an indica variety. Through years of selection the specific genetic profile of the different varieties were sharpened and at the same time stabilized. All members of the Blue Family show blue, and red to lilac shades on their calyxes, leaves and stems. The level of colour depends on the temperature at flowering time, colder conditions produce more colour. So, grown outdoors this phenomenon is a lot clearer than when grown indoors. The Blue Family varieties have always represented a special level of connoisseur quality for the cannabis home grower.

Dutch Passion Blueberry® is the original, a famously classy and enjoyable cannabis combined with fruity flavours and blue colourations in the leaves and buds. The genetics are 80% indica / 20% sativa and date back to the 1970's. Repeat growers of Blueberry® often like to germinate a number of seeds to find a special mother plant, she is easy to take cuttings from and you will never get tired of top quality Blueberry® bud. Although she yields well under ideal conditions she is grown primarily by those growers looking for that special, relaxing and refined Blueberry® high.

Afghani Kush

Dense sticky buds and a powerful body stone.

Dutch Passion Afghan landrace genetics were obtained decades ago in the Mazar i Sharif region of Afghanistan in the 1980's, when the area was still accessible to tourists. Today's Dutch Passion collection of Afghani Kush varieties include our famous Mazar, Master Kush and Night Queen varieties. Afghani Kush varieties are easy to grow. Typical characteristics of Afghani varieties are dense compact buds and a christmas tree shape. The plants may not grow very tall but they are highly productive with plenty of extremely resinous blooms. The effect of Afghani Kush is strong, powerful and intensely stoned. Top quality indica genetics do not get much better than these.

Treat this lady with love and she'll be real good back to you. Be conservative with nutrients, she doesn't need strong feeds to reach her full XL potential. When grown well, Banana Blaze will yield heavy harvests of tasty buds thanks to the numerous side branches. She often finishes in a Xmas tree shape with long blooms. She can reach 1.50m tall and flowers for about 8 weeks. You can smell a distinctive banana aroma around harvest time and this can also be tasted, especially on the exhale when smoked. This indica dominant variety gives a great, relaxing body stone.

The special genetics came from an awesome 1990's Dutch Passion gene bank banana indica. We had stored this "old-school" Banana Indica for a special breeding program just like this.

She may not require nutrients every time you water her, but by looking at the plant she will tell you exactly how she feels and what she needs. This is good practice for all the growers out there! In the right hands Auto Banana Blaze can produce 150 grams of top-quality bud per plant. Where possible we recommend growing this lady organically. ## CBD Rich

Rich in CBD for both medical and recreational growers.

CBD-rich cannabis contains 4% or more CBD (Cannabidiol) in the dried buds, 10 or 20 times the quantity found in normal cannabis varieties. CBD-rich varieties are one of the newest innovations in cannabis breeding. Dutch Passion have been proud to help pioneer this work. CBD-rich cannabis is popular with medical cannabis growers who value the properties and physical effects of CBD. CBD-rich cannabis has a strong body effect making it good for pain relief but for many people CBD is not excessively psychoactive, allowing people to enjoy cannabis medication yet still function well in their normal daily routine.

CBD Skunk Haze® comes from a project between Dutch Passion and CBD Crew. The goal was to achieve an optimum ratio of 1:1 THC:CBD. For medical use low %THC is preferred for some medical patients who want a relaxing and high quality genuine cannabis effect without the intensity that some high THC varieties give. Recreational users find that high CBD levels give a very comfortable and smooth high without anxiety or paranoia.

CBD Skunk Haze® contains 7,5% THC and 7,5% CBD. To create this variety our Haze/Skunk (winner of the 1992 High Times Cannabis Cup) was carefully crossed with a high CBD variety. CBD Skunk Haze® produces large tall plants. This Sativa/Indica cross (50/50) produces large buds which are not too dense.

Substrates

Dutch Passion cannabis varieties have all been extensively tested to grow well across the full range of different growing substrates. This includes soil, coco fibre, hydroponic, glass-wool and the other alternative grow mediums.

- Soil/compost. Most cannabis home-growers tend to prefer soil, you can buy it at any garden centre or specialist supplier and its simple to grow with. Seeds can be planted directly in the soil and will germinate, taking all their nutrients from the soil. Nutrients can be added to the water if needed and soil-grown cannabis plants often have excellent taste and aroma. Many first-time growers get excellent results from the simplicity of a soil- grown crop.

- Coco fibre. This is one of the most popular alternative to growing plants in soil since the growth rates in coco fibre are generally faster than compost. Coco fibre has a light, porous texture which promotes rapid root growth and good levels of root aeration. However coco fibre contains no nutrients so these have to be added to the water at the correct pH-level. For some people this can be more complicated than soil, but the compensation is generally better yields and faster growth.

- Hydroponics. Many different soil-free (hydroponic) growing systems have evolved. Whilst this can be more technically demanding than growing in soil, the main reasons people grow hydroponically is for the very rapid growth rates and high potential yields. With hydroponics the grower has to carefully control PH and EC-levels of his feed solution and understand when to change the nutrient solution. Normally hydro growers have already gained some growing experience and their effort is rewarded with growth rates and yields which are difficult to achieve in either soil or coco fibre.

- Other grow substrates. Cannabis is a versatile plant and can grow in many different substrates/mediums than the ones listed above. Many growers get excellent results growing in substrates based on glass fibre, natural wool, clay pebbles and other materials. So long as the roots can grow healthily and access the necessary nutrients then the plant will grow well assuming lighting, air flow and temperatures are good.

Medicinal use of cannabis

Cannabis is used by millions of people to help with the symptoms and pain caused by various medical conditions. Dutch Passion recommend that medical cannabis users discuss cannabis with medical professionals who are increasingly aware of the medical benefits. Growing your own medical cannabis is the best way to get maximum quality for minimum cost.

The following information about the use of medical cannabis comes directly from the Office of Medicinal Cannabis, which is a department of the Dutch Ministry of Health, Welfare and Sport:

"There is sufficient reason to believe that medicinal cannabis can help in cases of:

- pain and muscle spasms or cramps associated with multiple sclerosis or spinal cord damage;
- nausea, loss of appetite, weight loss and debilitation due to cancer or AIDS;
- nausea and vomiting associated with chemotherapy or radiotherapy used in the treatment of cancer, hepatitis C or HIV infection and AIDS;
- chronic pain (mainly pain associated with the nervous system, for example that caused by a damaged nerve, phantom pain, facial neuralgia or chronic pain which remains after the recovery from shingles);
- Gilles de la Tourette syndrome;
- therapy-resistant glaucoma.

Patients and doctors have also reported positive effects on a range of other conditions, including Crohn's disease, ulcerative colitis, epilepsy, itching, migraine, rheumatism, rheumatoid arthritis, ADD and brain trauma. These positive effects still need to be confirmed by scientific research. (For more information, go to www.cannabis-med.org.)

At present, medicinal cannabis does not cure the disorders mentioned above, but it can relieve the symptoms associated with them. It may also enable other medication to be given at a lower dosage, and reduce their side effects. It is up to doctors to determine whether treatment with medicinal cannabis would benefit a patient, given his or her diagnosis and circumstances. In doing so, they are not limited to the list of conditions given above. A doctor will only prescribe medicinal cannabis if the standard treatments and registered medicines are not having the desired effect or are causing too many side effects."

How to germinate cannabis seeds

The germination phase is the most critical phase of the life cycle of the cannabis plant. We have tried and tested several methods of the last decades and consistently got the best results using both the cotton pad method and the direct in soil method. Most experienced growers have a germination method which works well for them. If you are new to growing cannabis or encounter low germination rates with your usual method we recommend to use these methods.
